Silver Wedding Anniversary

A delightful party, on the evening of Wednesday June 7th marked the celebration of the silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Carter. While the guests gathered at the Lodge Hall, which had been decorated for the occasion, the "bride and groom" were entertained at dinner, by Rev. and Mrs. E. Longmire at the manse. Upon the arrival there of a streamer bedecked car, the guests of the evening were invited to go for a ride, their destination proving to be the Hall. Entering to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, they were showered with confetti and good wishes appropriate to the occasion. Escorted to places behind a tastefully appointed table, which was laid in embroidered linen; centered with a beautifully decorated, three-tiered wedding cake, flanked by tall white tapers, the honored couple were joyfully surprised by the arrival from Edmonton, of their second son, Mr. Allison Carter. After greeting his parents, Allison pinned a beautiful corsage of red roses and white gladioli on his mother's shoulder, to the hearty applause of the assembled guests who then sang, "For They are Jolly Good Fellows."

A varied and interesting program followed, highlighted by vocal solos by Miss Marjory McFarland, and Mrs. C. G. Carter, a piano solo by Miss Joy Enger; readings by Mr. Longmire and vocal duet by Miss Vera Simmermon and Mrs. C. G. Carter. Games and stunts which were entered into wholeheartedly by groups of guests, added greatly to the merriment of the evening.

A charming incident was the presentation by Mrs. Carter, bride of twenty-five years ago, of her second gift corsage, to Mrs. V. Hutchinson, another "bride" that day. It was not generally known, until then, that Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson were also celebrating an anniversary, but following the announcement, they received a very hearty clap.

Mr. R. L. Simmermon, acting as chairman, then presented Mr. and Mrs. Carter with a gift of money, along with a host of good wishes from their many friends in the community. Then, upon request, he presented them also with handsome gifts of silver from: Brothers and sisters; Allison; and the L.O.B.A. of which Mrs. Carter is a member of long standing.

Mr. Carter very feelingly replied, remarking that the party had indeed been a surprise to his wife and himself and thanking the many friends gathered and some not present, for their kindness. A deeper note was added when Mr. Carter remarked that only one thing could have made the occasion a happier one, that being the presence of their oldest son, Clarence, now on active service overseas.

Mrs. Carter also thanked those responsible for the happiness brought to her and her husband that day, remarking that this gathering had proved to her that "You might fool some of the people, some of the time, but you can't fool all of the people all of the time."

A delicious lunch brought the evening to a close, each guest receiving a piece of wedding cake to "wish on" or "dream on" as their fancy should decree.

Out of town guests present, were Mrs. W. F. White, of Calgary, aunt of Mrs. Carter, and Mr. Allison Carter, of Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Carter were married June 7th, 1919, and with the exception of two years, spent in Saskatchewan, have made their home in Irma, or the surrounding district ever since.

Sincere wishes for many more years of happiness were extended to Mr. and Mrs. Carter upon this joyous occasion.

TWO FAREWELLS IN ONE WEEK

It is with deep regret that the folks of Irma have had to say "bon-voyage," to two very highly respected citizens in the last two weeks.

On Friday last Mrs. R. C. McFarland gave her home for a farewell tea in honor of Mrs. S. G. Simmons and during the afternoon a large number of friends called to wish Mr. and Mrs. Simmons, all the very best in their new venture.

It is nearly thirty years since Mr. and Mrs. Simmons first settled on a farm in the Irma district and a few years later moved to town where they have been in business ever since. And as one who perhaps has known Mrs. Simmons for all of this time, Mrs. E. W. Carter was called on to express the best wish of all present, and on behalf of her host of friends, a lovely wall plaque was presented to the guest of honor. This was not meant as a truly farewell, for all expressed a hope that in the not too distant future, Mr. and Mrs. Simmons would again make their home in Irma.

On Monday June 5th at the home of Mrs. Bert Long, another large company of ladies gathered to express best wishes and deep regret at losing a good friend and community worker in the person of Mrs. Raham. Mr. and Mrs. Raham have been stationed with the Canadian National here for a number of years and during that time have made a host of friends who were sorry to hear they deemed it necessary to make a change, and are now stationed at Elk Point. The evening was spent with contests and music, and a number of friends assisted the hostess in serving a delicious luncheon. Following this Mrs. Black made the guest of honor the gift of a lovely picture, which carried the best of wishes for health and happiness in their new home.

Commonwealth of Nations

ALTHOUGH IT IS NOW SOME TIME since the British Commonwealth premiers met in London, there is still considerable discussion and comment concerning that important gathering. One point which appears to have impressed all who followed the proceedings of the conference, was the complete unanimity of opinion among the Prime Ministers in respect to the continued unity of the Empire. Mr. Churchill, in his recent speech during the House of Commons debate on foreign affairs, stated that "nothing was more remarkable than the cordial agreement expressed by every one of the Dominion Prime Ministers in the general conduct of our foreign affairs and the principles which govern that conduct." Referring to the discussions which took place at the Conference, Mr. Churchill observed that "there was revealed a core of agreement which will enable the British Empire and Commonwealth to meet in discussion with other organisms in the world in firmly united array."

A Basis For World Unity

Commenting on the same subject, Mr. Herbert Morrison, British Home Secretary, said: "The degree of goodwill, commonsense, enlightenment, and co-operation the Prime Ministers showed was extraordinary"; while Premier Mackenzie King, in his statement regarding the conference, given before the Canadian Parliament, reported that "the entire proceedings were marked by a degree of unanimity and determination that it would be impossible to exaggerate." While it has been admitted that there were small differences of opinion in some matters, there was no difficulty in eliminating these during the course of the discussions. It now appears that this accord which has been reached in regard to the conduct of the Empire's foreign policy, may be a basis for the opening of wider discussions with other countries on these questions, and may lead the way toward a world unity which will be necessary to a lasting peace.

Empire Bonds Still Strong

It was made apparent at the conference that Canada is gaining prestige and importance in world affairs, and that she intends to fulfil her obligations in this connection to the best of her ability. It was made equally apparent, however, that this will in no way interfere with her position as a free nation within the commonwealth. This was in accord with the attitude of the other nations represented; and is a vigorous denial of the rumors which are frequently circulated, hinting that there is disunity within the Empire. The rumors come largely from sources outside of the Empire and from people who have little understanding of the bonds which unite this great family of nations. These bonds are as strong now as they have ever been, and they join together people who, although they are scattered over many parts of the world, have the same concept of freedom and human liberties, a concept which began with the signing of the Magna Carta in 1215, and still endures.

"Info Rooms" Help In Training Canada's Soldiers

In the army today a trained Canadian soldier has to have a thorough knowledge of a great variety of subjects.

Since the beginning of the year the army has set up "info rooms." These information rooms are now or will soon be a part of every training centre in Canada. And it is the never-ending job of the officer in charge to revise maps, collate all available information and try to keep abreast of the changing war scene. Pictures of all known Nazi uniforms, allied and enemy tanks and planes are found there; maps showing the situation in any given war area; and table models to facilitate teaching of map reading. The "info room" in a Canadian training centre is of valuable assistance to the knowledge which every well-trained soldier must have.

Shortage Of Wood

Munitions Minister Urges People To Prepare For Next Winter

Munitions Minister Howe warned in a statement that despite the mildness of last winter and the improvement in stocks Canada faces the possibility of a shortage of wood fuel next winter.

To help prevent such a shortage, Mr. Howe urged that every community in a wood-burning area examine its local situation at once and if necessary take immediate steps to build up stockpiles. He suggested also that every household burning wood should, if at all possible, buy his wood at once and store it for use next winter.

The minister, said the period for payment of the $1 per cord production subsidy on fuel wood will be extended to Sept. 30, 1944.

Farm Women Are Given Salute By The Nation

Women guerrillas from farms and villages in lands over the seas are winning decorations for fighting the enemy. In Canada, too, the farm woman is needed as a guerrilla to battle another foe, which threatens home and country. Its names is "inflation".

The nation has honored all women on the farms and in cities and towns for their fight against inflation by holding "Mrs. Consumer Week". Now, under the leadership of their national presidents, groups across the land have pledged themselves anew to carry on the battle through all the other weeks of the year, never ceasing in their efforts. With Canada's appreciation to inspire them, there's a new lift to the daily duty of checking prices, scrupulously observing rationing, helping find the money for taxes needed in an all-out war, and putting dollars and quarters into war savings.

Now that the war is moving so swiftly to its great climax, reports reaching Ottawa say that women throughout the country are more determined than ever to do their duty and help keep Canada sound and stable now and for the time when the boys come home.

C.W.A.C. Officer

Capt. Madeleine Nation Is Promoted To The Acting Rank Of Major

Promotion of Capt. Madeleine H. Nation, of Vancouver, B.C., to the acting rank of Major in the Canadian Women's Army Corps and her appointment as District C.W.A.C. Officer, Pacific Command, Vancouver, was announced at National Defence Headquarters.

Previous to her new appointment Major Nation was employed as District C.W.A.C. Officer in Military District No. 3, Kingston, Ontario.

Enlisting in 1942, Major Nation assisted in the development of the C.W.A.C. She received her commission at the same time as her daughter, Lieut. Barbara Nation at a graduation in Ste. Anne de Bellevue, Que., in September 1942. She was employed, first as Company Commander No. 3 Company, Montreal, and later as Recruiting Officer for Military District No. 4 with headquarters in Montreal. In July, 1943, she was promoted to the rank of Captain and her posting to Kingston followed in November of that year.

Major Nations son is on active service with the Royal Canadian Navy and her daughter, Barbara, is now serving Overseas with the C.W.A.C.

Malaria Mosquito

Deadly War Is Being Waged On The Home Front

War against the deadly malaria mosquito is being waged on the home front. In Canada health authorities are beginning to worry that the disease, which has been dormant for more than half a century, may be brought back to Canada by returning troops from the Mediterranean area; that men who have recovered from the disease may pass on the bug by way of the mosquitoes here, known as Anopheles.

Already malaria control is being carried out extensively in the United States by dusting mosquito areas from airplanes and the use of oil on stagnant water.

"Miss Ann", which is the soldier's name for the Anopheles malaria-carrying mosquito, breeds fast on warm, springy days and in water allowed to stagnate after seasonal rains. And because this fragile-appearing, but deadly mosquito is responsible for this war's worst disease, U.S. health authorities have begun their greatest offensive to exterminate her.

Price Control And Rationing Information

Q—Where can I exchange "F" coupons for preserves coupons?
A—The first five "F" coupons, which became valid on May 25, can be exchanged for preserves coupons if you do not wish to purchase canned sugar. These coupons can be exchanged at your nearest local ration board office. The second five "F" coupons become valid on July 6.

Q—I have a small shop and would like to take over more floor space which is available in the building. Where should I apply for a permit?
A—Permits are no longer required when an existing business changes ownership, acquires additional floor space or moves to other premises. Permits are still required, however, for the formation of a new business. It is also necessary when moving to a new location to surrender the Wartime Prices and Trade Board license to the nearest local office of the Board so they may issue a new license with the correct address.

Q—What is the charge for the booklet with instructions for remaking clothes?
A—There is no charge for this booklet. A copy of "Remake Wrinkles" has been forwarded to you. It contains many helpful suggestions for keeping your wartime wardrobe up to date.

Please send your questions or your request for the pamphlet "Consumers' News" or the Blue Book (the book in which you keep track of your ceiling prices) mentioning the name of this paper to the nearest Wartime Prices and Trade Board office in your province.

Beware Grass Fires

Every Care Should Be Taken To Protect Your Property

In view of the imminent danger to farm buildings and cottages near grassland, grass should not be burned. It is safer to mow it or cut down the weeds, pile them up, and cart them away. In cases where it is necessary to set a fire, the following precautions should be taken, no matter how free from danger the circumstances appear to be: Never allow children to do this work alone. Even when under supervision, children should not be the only members of the party, grown-up neighbours should be asked to help. Make certain that each member of the crew has a rake, a shovel, or a broom, or other appliance to beat out fire. Always have close at hand pails of water, if a creek or other water is not near. Before starting the fire, make sure that all grass is thoroughly raked from around buildings so that fire cannot reach them. Never leave the burnt-out place without being certain that the fire is out, and if the fire had been set in the early evening, it is a safe plan to take another look at the place before going to bed.

Out-work is on the increase in Britain. Latest figures gave 40,000 persons engaged on industrial work in private home and other makeshift out-work depots, 17,000 in London alone. Post-War Plans

British Government Has Sweeping Plans For Finding Jobs For All

The United Kingdom government in a white paper announced sweeping plans for getting Britons back to work after the war finding jobs for all and beating the bugbear of a post-war slump.

It made the hopeful assertion there will be no problem of general unemployment in the years immediately after the end of the war in Europe. The white paper was issued by the minister of reconstruction, Lord Woolton. One phase of the government's policy it indicated, is to co-operate actively with the other nations, firstly for the re-establishment of general economic stability after the shocks of war and next for the progressive expansion of trade.

Two other main points of the government's programme to beat unemployment are firstly planned spending on public works to check the onset of a depression in which a co-ordinating body under the cabinet will be set up to control expenditure on the programmes of public authorities five years ahead, and secondly, concerted action between the treasury and banks to influence the volume of capital expenditure by variations in the rate of interest.

DISLIKE TERM

Protesting that the term "pension" in the Canadian Pensions Act "carries with it the connotation of a hireling, a dependant or one in receipt of an income as an act of grace," the National Council of Veterans' Associations in Canada meeting at Toronto urged that the word be eliminated. Substitution of "compensation" was urged.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

SHOES!

—By—
JOSEPH J. SANDA
McClure Newspaper Syndicate

Mr. Williger's face brightened. There in the door of the shoe store stood Mr. Benton in an attitude of welcome.

Mr. Williger's lank frame moved with new buoyancy. He'd have something to show for his labors to-day. Benton's store was one place that made his work a pleasure. It was no lark finding attentive ears and receptive moods for his pleas in behalf of the Charities Group and its shoe fund. At times, he grew almost sick with discouragement. But occasionally he managed to reap a good harvest for the needy. The Group was proud of him.

"Here we are again," Mr. Williger announced cheerfully, as he followed Benton into the store.

Inside, his eyes took in the shelves closely packed with high quality stock. Then, for some reason, he felt disturbed. Could he expect Benton to donate a whole case of shoes again, odd lots though they might be? The man looked sombre. And when Benton spoke, his voice lacked something. "Of course, I'm happy to see you again Mr. Williger," he was saying, "but I'm afraid I can't do anything for you this time. Sorry."

Mr. Williger thought Benton really was sorry. He could tell that by his sad, kind eyes and the way he held his head. It seemed to him the grey hair had turned somewhat whiter.

"I'm beginning to think that moving my store next door to the newest and biggest hotel in the city wasn't such a good idea, after all," Benton continued. "My old customers don't seem to realize that I'm here. Maybe they don't care." Benton sighed. "And they were the best people."

"You deserve a good business," Mr. Williger said earnestly. "Benton tried to sound cheerful. 'It's true I haven't been very busy lately, but who can tell? A good stock turnover and then we'll have something for you. Eh, Mr. Williger?" Mr. Williger nodded. Benton was a fine man. He wished he could do something. He felt low, but his spirits rose at the thought of today's luncheon given by the city's combined civic clubs. He might still make up for the disappointment he had suffered at Benton's. He was grateful for permission to say a few words about the shoe fund. He felt particularly kindly toward A. B. Chester, chairman of the committee.

It was still early, and the luncheon was to be held in the hotel before which he stood. Mr. Williger stepped inside the lobby. He could sink into a comfortable chair and ponder on his problem.

There would be about two hundred guests, he thought. Men of business, for the most part. It would be no easy task to make them dive deep into their pockets and come up with something tangible. That was what he wanted. Not expressions of moral support nor pledges that did not survive the enthusiasm of the moment. He had experienced all that before.

They began to appear, these men whose generosity he would soon test. He wondered if A. B. Chester would arrive early. He hoped that he would. It might be worth while to have a chat with him before the affair.

A. B. Chester strode into the lobby. Mr. Williger arose to meet him. Shortly afterward, arm in arm, they sought the banquet hall.

Mr. Williger sat down with mixed feelings. The applause which had followed his impassioned plea for aid for the needy was dying down. Then A. B. Chester rose to his feet. "Gentlemen," he began, "you have all heard Mr. Williger's remarks." His voice lifted. "Men, let there be an answer to them—not with words, but with action!"

And, forthwith, A. B. Chester bent low to the floor. When he straightened, he raised his arm over his head. From his hand dangled his shoes. "Here," he cried, "is my contribution!" He brought the shoes down upon the tablecloth with a resounding thump.

Eyes widened in disbelief at what they beheld. A gasp was audible from one side of the room. A laugh from another. Then several voices broke out in unison. "And here's mine!"

Shouts, blended with applause and laughter, filled the hall. "Take mine!" — "And mine, too!"

Heads were bobbing up and down at all sides of the room. A voice chorused. This was going to be something to be remembered!

Mr. Williger looked bewildered. Shoes here—shoes there—shoes everywhere! All his for the taking. What publicity this would bring!

A. B. Chester's smile was that of a victor. His glance at Mr. Williger said, "I told you I'd handle them."

And now he was drawing out his wallet. He would make a thorough job of it.

Mr. Williger arose abruptly. He must get to a phone.

"Mr. Benton! . . . Williger speaking. . . I'm here at the hotel. . . Get ready for a good stock turnover. . . Some of your old customers. . . They'll be down any minute. . . Lots of them. . . And if you're stocked in socks, get 'em out. . . They'll need them too. . . See you later." Mr. Williger could imagine the look on Benton's face.

Hurrying back to the banquet hall, he found A. B. Chester leading a parade of shoeless diners to the elevators. Mr. Williger rushed up to him, gratitude shining in his eyes. A. B. Chester held up his hand. "Say nothing about it, Mr. Williger," he said. "Go back in there and take the shoes away. You'll find money in a jar at your place. And I'd like to tell you," he lowered his voice, "I rather enjoyed all this. You see, I manufacture shoes."

"Gentle All-Bran keeps me regular"

"You bet I think ALL-BRAN is helpful for constipation. It sure helped me. You see I'd been dosing myself for years with many kinds of purgatives which helped only briefly. But eating ALL-BRAN keeps me free of that. Now I'm regular as a clock—and I like ALL-BRAN a lot."

do, if your constipation is due to lack of "bulk" in the diet. Simply eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN regularly, and drink plenty of water. This wholesome cereal helps to produce smooth-working "bulk," and prepare wastes for easy elimination. So, to stay regular, eat ALL-BRAN daily, as a cereal or in several ALL-BRAN muffins. Remember, ALL-BRAN is a cereal—not a medicine. Get it at your grocer's. 2 handy sizes. Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

British Scientists

Have Developed Many Revolutionary Weapons Of War

The record British scientists at war has proved them more than worthy of this recognition. Many of the newest and most revolutionary weapons of war—whether defensive or offensive—have been the product of British brains. Meanwhile in other fields research has gone forward, and discoveries have been made which will prove of lasting benefit to the world when the war is over.

Radar, probably the greatest weapon in air warfare, was first discovered and perfected in Britain, and shared with Britain's Allies. In the Battle of Britain it tipped the balance against Germany—and in favor of the whole civilized world.

Since these days Britain has developed many other weapons for air warfare. After Radar came improved anti-aircraft guns, culminating in the now famous secret "Z" rocket gun.

Britain's new air weapons have been just as much offensive as defensive. The "backroom boys," as her scientists are called, have produced bombs which have grown bigger and more powerful every year. Their latest is a 12,000 pounder—so large that experts thought they could never get it made a filling factory. The application of the degaussing girdle to the hulls of ships, thus neutralizing the effect of the German magnetic mine, was equal to a major victory at sea. Within a few weeks British scientists had defeated the menace of what Germany had vaunted as a war-winning weapon.

SELECTED RECIPES

GRANDMOTHER'S "SUGAR COOKIES"

¾ cup shortening
¾ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
½ cup corn syrup
2 eggs, well beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla or lemon extract
2½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 cup sifted corn starch
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cream of tartar
1 teaspoon soda
Cream shortening and gradually beat in brown sugar and corn syrup, blending thoroughly. Add beaten eggs and flavoring. Sift dry ingredients together three times and add to cream mixture in five or six additions, working in gradually until all has been used. Roll out thin on a floured board and cut in rounds or other desired shapes. Place on greased baking sheet; bake in a moderate oven (357 degrees F.) for 12 to 15 minutes. When cool, put together in pairs (with jam, jelly, butter, etc.), or serve plain. Yields dozen cookies (about 2½ inches in diameter).

Three thousand miles of travel through 3 countries brought Senorita Alleen Barnett to Toronto to enlist in the C.W.A.C. Her home is in Salinas, San Luis Potosi, Mexico, and she enjoys a dual Mexican and British citizenship. Daughter of an English father and an American mother, Pte. Barnett, a tall, graceful 19-year-old, was born in Salinas. She was educated by a governess at home and attended Bishop Strachan School in Toronto for two years. She graduated from high school in Texas and studied for a year at Texas Teacher's College. Prior to her enlistment in the Corps in February, she was employed as a private secretary for the Salinas of Mexico, a British mining company of which Mr. Barnett is general manager.

Handicrafts—

Handicrafts, including everything from amateur camera clubs to making wool-lined moccasins in occupying the spare time of Miss Canada in Khaki in barracks through the Dominion. Materials and working equipment for the majority of these projects are purchased through the Canadian Legion Educational Services. Leather-tooling, knitting, embroidery, clay modelling, pottery making, wood-carving and weaving are only a few of the handicrafts being delved into with great interest by the Army girls.

Versatility—

To Pte. Betty Stevens in No. 29 C.W.A.C. Administrative Unit in Vancouver, B.C., goes the tag of "most versatile CWAC". Betty manages after her regular duty hours to run her unit's paper single-handed. She does the reporting, editing and printing of the "Puddle Duck", CWAC newspaper in Pacific Command.

Training—

Only confirmed regimental sergeant major in the Canadian Women's Army Corps is tall, handsome R.S.M. Rena Fraser of Edmonton, Alta. Rena is stationed at the C.W.A.C. training centre at Kitchener, Ont. Contrary to all Army traditions regarding sergeant-majors, Rena is one of the most popular young women in the huge camp. An all-out, out-of-doors enthusiast, she is in addition to her work as R.S.M., captain of the training centre's basketball and softball teams. She has been stationed at Kitchener since November, 1942.

The Poultry Flock

Must Keep Close Watch To See That Birds Are Healthy

A high degree of health is the greatest asset of the poultry flock. By nature birds are healthy. When they are not, there is a definite cause. The alert poultryman can foresee trouble coming, and in most cases can take steps to prevent it. Some of the signs of departure from the normal or early cessation of production are sharpness of the keel bone when felt by hand, thinness of the abdomen, dryness of the skin, and dullness of the eye. They justify an immediate search for the cause. The very actions of the flock, the way that they greet the feeder, their industry, the uniformity of their daily feed consumption and many other things are all indications of health and health to be.

Trapping which entails the handling of the birds every day helps the poultryman to know his flock intimately. The moment a bird slips into his hands, a keen poultryman knows where that hen is going to continue laying or not. In addition to the head points, the hen feels warm and firm, plump and well-conditioned, with a reserve of soft fat apparent in the abdomen, and with the skin soft and velvety to the touch. Time spent with the birds is time well spent, and enables the poultryman to feel great satisfaction in fulfilling to the letter what he knows to be his first responsibility—the health of his flock.

"It's the Fuehrer's custom," says the German newspaper, "to be absolutely alone for an hour each day. It must seem longer considering who he's with, says Punch.

Farm Machinery

Farmers Are Urged To Repair The Binder Now

Farmers are urged to check carefully their binders at the earliest opportunity, and to order needed repairs without delay so that every binder, old or new, should be in the best possible condition for the beginning of harvest.

The Dominion Department of Agriculture advises that particular attention should be paid to the binding attachment to ensure trouble-free operation and reduce loss of time during harvest.

Be sure that the binder knottor is in first-class condition and is kept in proper adjustment. Where grooves have been worn in the twine guides these should be filed out smooth. A badly grooved bind-hook should be replaced.

The twine knife should be replaced if worn down, and it should be kept sharp for best operation. This is particularly important this year as the binder twine produced for 1944 will contain 12½ per cent. jute in the she. However, the quality of the 1944 wartime binder twine is the very best that can be manufactured from the wartime materials available. Field tests made under normal farm conditions, without special adjustment of the binder, indicate that with ordinary care all binders in reasonable repair can use this wartime twine.

Huns Desecrated Graves Of Bishops In Russian Cathedral

According to a U.S.S.R. bulletin the Germans knew that in ancient times Novgorod princes and bishops were buried under the floor of the Cathedral, with their crosses and precious jewels. In their search for these treasures, the Hitlerites tore up the flagstones and desecrated the graves. The remains of the Novgorod princes and archbishops have disappeared. The Nazi ghoulies removed them with their robes and valuables.

CANNOT BE BLAMED

Much is said from time to time—and rightly, we think—of the horridly inelegant habit of chewing tobacco. But, says the Ottawa Citizen, in all fairness, has it ever been known to start a bush fire? And can as much be said of the more socially accepted cigarette? Or Paw's pipe?

BUTTONS, SNAPS, HOOKS AND EYES

Use a double thread to sew on buttons. Make a knot in the thread and hide the knot under the button by pushing the needle through from the right side. Place the button in position. Lay a pin across the top to keep the thread loose, sew back and forth across the pin. Wind the thread between the button and fabric to reinforce.

Secure snap fasteners with an over and over stitch. Sew each hole separately. Carry the thread on the wrong side to the next hole. Make snap-fasteners have a perforation through the centre. Sew one side of the fastener. Hold the garment closed and draw the thread through to place the second half of the fastener.

WHAT IS WANTED

You can remedy this critical paper shortage by saving every scrap of waste paper, namely: wrapping paper — store bags — cardboard — cartons — corrugated board — old magazines and books — envelopes and letters — newspapers. These represent the raw material for making vitally needed paper containers.

HOW TO DO IT

Tie securely in separate bundles. (The little time you take will save thousands of man hours.) Then dispose of it through your local voluntary Salvage Committee or other War Voluntary Organization, or sell it through any known trade channels, your pedlar, dealer or others. The important thing is your waste paper moving to the mills.
